CONTENTS

Number 1. March, 1939

Later development of children specially trained during infancy. Johnny and Jimmy at school age. Myrtle B. McGraw 1
The growth of an abstract concept. Sina M. Mott..... 21
Observations on estimating skeletal age from the Todd and the Flory bone atlases. S. Idell Pyle and Camille Menino..... 27
The interpretation of schizophrenic-like behavior in children. Mandel Sherman 35
A follow-up study of the behavior of nursery school children. Dorothy Van Alstyne and LaBerta A. Hattwick..... 43

Number 2. June, 1939

The measurement of domination and of socially integrative behavior in teachers' contacts with children. Harold H. Anderson..... 73
The growth of the long bones in 80 infants. Roentgenograms versus anthropometry. Marion M. Maresh and Jean Deming 91
A survey of the adjustment of school children. Mervin A. Durea 107
A behavior syndrome characterizing prematurely-born children. Mary Shirley 115
Length of head and neck, trunk, and lower extremities on Iowa City children aged seven to seventeen years. Howard V. Meredith 129
The effect of including incomplete series in the statistical analysis of longitudinal measurements of children's dental arches. John E. Anderson and Joseph T. Cohen 145

Number 3. September, 1939

Oral and written wishes of rural and city school children. George S. Speer 151
The use of the Stanford-Binet (1937 revision) in a group of nursery school children. Irma Simonton Black 157
The reaction of parents to reading failure. Mary I. Preston 173
The relation between change in basal metabolism and growth during adolescence. Charles B. Davenport, Olive Renfroe and Wilfred D. Hallock ... 181
The predictive value of infancy tests in relation to intelligence at five years. L. Dewey Anderson 203
A note on "Physical proportions in the human infant." Nephi Jorgensen ... 213

Number 4. December, 1939

Determining and numerating adjectives in children's speech. John B. Carroll 215
The measurement of attitudes of delinquent and normal boys by use of an associational technique. William Fauquier 231
Dry skim milk in low cost diets. Eleanor P. Hunt 241
A study of the relationship between psychometric patterns and personality types. Marjorie Gerlach 269
The significance of an improved calendar in child development research. Harriet Elizabeth Neall 279